All volumes are from the Library of Kenneth E. Hill, a bit over half having a small bookplate with his initials, as illustrated on the front cover.

Nearly all are Western Americana related, though there are a few nautical items. There are also many keepsakes and limited edition printings from the Book Club of California and the Friends of the Bancroft Library, as well as a nice selection of works by John Muir including one extra-illustrated and signed.

Though Hill is best known for his magnificent collection of Pacific Voyages, now housed at the University of California at San Diego, he was an active and important collector in many fields. An excellent sketch of his life can be found in "Kenneth Evan Hill as a Book Collector, 5 December 1915 - 8 July 2001," by Jonathan A. Hill, part of the introduction to the second edition of The Hill Collection of Pacific Voyages at the University of California, San Diego (New Haven: William Reese Company, 2004).

BLUEPRINT FOR URBAN WARFARE IN LATIN AMERICA

6. [ALVORD, BENJAMIN; HEADQUARTERS, U.S. EXPEDITIONARY FORCES]. Memorandum in Reference to the Methods to be Employed in the Capture and Occupation of Latin-American Cities. Vera Cruz, Mexico. August 10, 1914. Vera Cruz, Mexico: n.p., 1914. 10 pp. Sm. 8vo. Stapled self wrappers.

First edition. The product of worry over Mexico's potential entry on the German side during World War I, the work describes the principles used to capture and occupy a foreign city, in this case, in Latin America. The document provides a general statement, general principles and objective, the architecture and general characteristics of Latin-American cities, and action of the occupying force (preliminary arrangements and the details of occupation, etc.). "In any warfare instituted against Latin-Americans our troops will encounter a mode of defense rather foreign to modern tactical teachings and more in accordance with medieval times. These people pursue a style of warfare which consists primarily in the attack and defense of cities. A campaign is seldom executed with the object of destroying the enemy's army. The loss of a city hurts the prestige of the government and the morale of the troops more than the losses of battle." The lessons of this urban warfare were no doubt forgotten before and during the early stages of the Iraq War. This pamphlet may have been used in the curriculum for the Command and General Staff College (CGSC) at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas and was provided to National Guard troops in 1916 (see The Saturday Evening Post, 1916, - Volume 189, Issue 1 - Page 34). Benjamin Alvord, Jr. (1860-1927) was promoted to brigadier general and was the adjutant general of the American Expeditionary Forces during World War I. Scarce. OCLC lists three copies, only one at a civilian library, Stanford; the others being at the Combined Arms Research Library and The U.S. Army Heritage & Education Ctr. A very good+ copy with a mail fold and a crease to one corner. [40509]

Letter from the Secretary of War, accompanying an engineer report of a reconnaissance of the Yellowstone River in 1871. April 18, 1872. 42nd Congress, 2d Session. Ex. Doc. No. 66. Senate. [Washington, D.C.]: [Government Printing Office], 1872. 43 pp. + map. Illus. with a folding lithographed map. 69 x 30.5 cm. (27¼ x 12 inches). 8vo. Modern brown cloth with gilt titles. Howes B145. Wheat Transmississippi 1220. Eberstadt 134-445.

First edition. "The first recorded visit to Yellowstone Park was made by John Colter in 1810 when he took refuge there from hostile Indians. No one believed his story of what he saw there, nor did they believe that of the next visitor, Joseph Meek, in 1829. Finally, in the 1850's the region was described in considerable detail in the writings of Father DeSmet, the famous Jesuit missionary, who had obtained most of his information from the mountain man, Jim Bridger. In 1859, Capt. W. F. Reynolds led a government expedition to the area, but it brought back little information and was discredited by a public dead set on not believing what was there. Finally, in 1870, N. P. Langford and H. D. Washburn led a well-equipped, thorough expedition that not only established the facts about the region but also led directly to the creation of Yellowstone National Park on March 1, 1872. Langford was appointed the first Superintendent of the Park, which was the Federal government's first program for preserving any extensive area of the national lands for public use. The magnificent park included over two million acres in Wyoming, Montana, and Idaho, and included some of the most beautiful and breathtaking area in the country," Jenkins (JJ100-299). Includes the scarce map of the upper Yellowstone with much detail of the area surveyed. Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate. A very good+ copy, small bookplate, with expert repair to bottom edge of first leaf, large folding map skillfully silked on reverse at each fold, in a fine modern binding. [40288]

First English Language edition. Second edition after the French Montreal edition of 1820. Franchère, an employee of John Jacob Astor's Pacific Fur Company, was in residence at Astoria from April, 1811, to the spring of 1814. His Narrative provided a record of the establishment of the Astoria Trading post and a description of the Oregon country. It was edited, with numerous changes, from a manuscript now preserved in the Toronto Public Library. Cowan calls it a "classic of early western travel," and Washington Irving relied upon it heavily for his Astoria. Thomas Hart Benton used it to support his arguments for the American claim to the Oregon Territory in 1846, and the English translation was published, not only to offer the American public a "simple and connected account" of Astor's accomplishment, but to introduce territory "which at no distant day may add two more bright stars to our national banner." Cowan (1913) p. 90. "It is the earliest narrative of adventure among the Indians of the Pacific Coast," Field. Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate; L. B. Cox (bookplate), of the Oregon Historical Society; Samuel P. Fowler (bookplate), Danvers, 1800-1888, naturalist and author. 122. MACOMB, J. N. (JOHN), NEWBERRY, J. S. (JOHN STRONG), MEEK, F. B. (FIELDING BRADFORD) Report of the Exploring Expedition from Santa Fé, New Mexico, to the Junction of the Grand and Green Rivers of the Great Colorado of the West, in 1859, ... with Geological Report. Washington [D.C.]: [U.S.] Government Printing Office, 1876. vii, 152 pp., [22 lvs plates]. Illus. with 11 chromolithograph landscape views, 3 black & white views, and 8 plates of fossil specimens. Lacking the map. Cloth stamped in blind. Howes M179. Farquhar, Books of the Colorado River 23. Wagner-Camp 379b. Graff 2647.

First edition. One of the last Army expeditions in the region, this was an exploration of parts of New Mexico, Utah, and Colorado during the summer of 1859, northward out of Santa Fe along the Old Spanish Trail, to discover if there were a practical railroad or wagon route through the San Juan River country to the southern settlements of Utah Territory (in case of further armed conflicts like the "Utah War"), and on to the west coast. The report found the mountainous terrain impractical for a railroad, and the weather too severe for permanent settlement. The Civil War delayed publication. Landscapes were drawn by J.S. Newberry, and chromolithographed by Sinclair of Philadelphia of whom it was said: "No landscape produced by a skillful painter in water-colors could be much more finely executed. The colors are blended and softened down with the nicety of pencil work, and the most delicate atmospheric effects are produced..." (Marzio: Democratic Art, p.32). Farquhar calls the lithograph of Shiprock "one of the most pleasing of the scenic views made in that epoch" (p. 19). Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate. Spine ends and corners worn with minor loss else a very good copy, small bookplate on front pastedown, plates sharp, lacking the rear map. [40327]

123. MARTIN, THOMAS S. With Frémont to California and the Southwest 1845-1849. Ferol Egan, ed. and intro. Ashland, [Or.]: Lewis Osborne, 1975. vi, 48 pp. Sm. 4to. Quarter muslin over paper covered boards.

NAVIGATION BY "THE PATHFINDER OF THE SEAS"

126. MAURY, M.F. [MATTHEW FONTAINE]. A New Theoretical and Practical Treatise on Navigation: in which the auxiliary branches of mathematics and astronomy, comprised of algebra, geometry, logarithms, plane and spherical trigonometry, the motions of the heavenly bodies, tides, variation of the compass, etc., are treated of. Also, the Theory and most Simple Methods of finding Time, Latitude, and Longitude, by chronometers, lunar observations, single and double altitudes, are taught. Together with a new and easy plan for finding diff. lat., dep., course, and distance. Philadelphia: Key and Biddle, 1836. viii, 216 pp. + tables. Illus. with 9 plates (1 folding.) and 174 tables. 8vo. Original calf, gilt title. Karpinski p. 391. Williams p. 693.

$750.00

First edition. Maury's great ambition was to clarify for the student the mathematical and theoretical principles behind the formulas for finding longitude, making midshipmen theoretical as well as practical navigators. The book was well received, and it replaced Bowditch as the standard textbook for naval midshipmen on navigation. Matthew Fontaine Maury (1806-1873), United States Navy, was called "Pathfinder of the Seas" and "Father of Modern Oceanography and Naval Meteorology." See Williams, Matthew Fontaine Maury, pp. 102-111. Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate. Last at auction in 1984. Front joint very tender, spine tips worn, small bookplate, folding plate with inch tear at margin, light scattered foxing, still about very good. [40297]

127. MUIR, JOHN. The Cruise of the Corwin. Journal of the Arctic Expedition of 1881 in search of De Long and the Jeannette. William Frederic Badè, ed. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1917. xxxii, 279 pp. Illus. with 21 b/w plates. 8vo. Gray cloth, color image mounted on front board, top edge gilt. BAL 14775

$40.00

First Trade edition. Muir kept a journal of this 1881 cruise. Four of the photographs are by Edward S. Curtis. Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate. A very good copy, minor edge wear, owner's name and small bookplate on front pastedown, no dust jacket. [40305]

128. MUIR, JOHN. The Mountains of California. New York: Century, 1894. xiii, 381 pp. Illus. with 53 b/w plates and drawings. Sm. 8vo. Tan cloth, gilt titles, and decorations, top edge gilt. BAL 14746. Zamorano 80: 56. Neate M166.

First edition, first state. Muir's "book length tribute to the beauties of the Sierras. He recounts not only his own journeys by foot through the mountains, glaciers, forests, and valleys, but also the geological and natural history of the region, ranging from the history of glaciers, the patterns of tree growth, and the daily life of animals and insects. While Yosemite naturally receives great attention, Muir also expounds on less well known beauty spots," (LOC). Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate. Spine a bit darkened, slight roll, contemporary gift inscription on free front end-paper, and small bookplate on front pastedown, light foxing throughout though heavier on end-papers and edges, overall still about very good. [40311]

129. MUIR, JOHN. My First Summer in the Sierra. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1911. vii, [1], 353, [1] pp. Illus. with 12 b/w plates with letterpress tissue guards and 21 in-text drawings. 8vo. Dark green pictorial cloth, stamped in black and gilt, gilt titles, top edge gilt. BAL 14765. Neate M167.

First edition. Illustrations are from drawings made by the author in 1869 and from photographs by Herbert W. Gleason. "Based on Muir's original journals and sketches of his 1869 stay in the Sierras. Hired to supervise a San Joaquin sheep owner's flock at the headwaters of the Merced and Tulomne Rivers, Muir sets out for the mountains in June, returning to the Valley in September. He describes the flora and fauna of the mountains as well as his visits to Yosemite and his climbs of Mt. Hoffman and other peaks in the range," (LOC). Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate. A very good or better copy, rubbing to extremities, otherwise boards and spine bright, tiny bump at bottom fore-corner, small bookplate. Dust jacket laid in loose in three pieces, lacking half of spine, edges torn. [40306]

130. MUIR, JOHN. Notes on my Journeying in California's Northern Mountains. Lawrence W. Jordan, Jr., intro. [Ashland, OR.]: Lewis Osborne, 1974. 77 pp. Illus. with 11 b/w reproductions and 2 plates, map endpapers. Sm. 4to. Cloth.

SIGNED BY MUIR WITH TIPPED IN PHOTOS

131. MUIR, JOHN. Our National Parks [Extra Illustrated]. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, (1901). 370 pp. Illus. with 12 b/w plates. 8vo. Green cloth with gilt titles, front board decorated in gilt and black, top edge gilt. BAL 14752.

$3000.00

Later printing. Presentation copy, inscribed by the author to Mr. & Mrs. Ray W. Simonds "with kindest regards and many pleasant memories," dated 1907. Three tipped-in photographs, two of Muir with Simonds (who would have been approximately 28 years old given his graduation from Berkeley High School in 1896), both outdoors; the third is a sweeping landscape view of one of the national parks. It is unclear how the Simonds' and Muir met, but they did so on many occasions, and correspondence to this effect can be found in letters to Muir by Edith (Mrs. Ray) Simonds in the Muir archives. Books signed by Muir are uncommon and there are no auction records for a signed copy of this work in any edition in at least the last fifty years. Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate. A very good copy, joint just starting after title page, boards rubbed, small faint circular stain to front board, small bookplate, occasional offsetting from mounted photos and small advertisement for book (which is laid in loose). [40309]

132. MUIR, JOHN. The Overland Monthly. Devoted to the Development of the Country. April 1873, Vol. 10, No. 4; [with] August 1873, Vol. XI, No. 2; [with]

September 1874, Vol. 13, No. 3. [Three Volumes]. San Francisco: John H. Carmany, 1873, 1874. 8vo. Paper wrappers, in modern slipcase with gilt title.

$125.00

First edition. Three early periodical publications by Muir who was just beginning to feel his way as a writer: 1. A Geologist's Winter Walk (which was submitted without his prior knowledge); 2. Exploration in the Great Tuolumne Cañon; and 3. By-ways of Yosemite Travel. Bloody Cañon. Complete with all inserted advertisements. Overall very good, spine ends and wrappers chipped, rear wrapper to last issue nearly detached; one issue with Collection sticker on first page; contents clean; in a near fine slipcase. [40453]

133. MUIR, JOHN. Rambles in King's River Country. Alan Ross, foreword. Ashland, OR: Lewis Osborne, 1977. 57 pp. Illus. with 1 color map, 14 b/w plates and reproductions. 8vo. Quarter cloth over brown patterned paper covered boards illustrated in gilt.

$25.00

First edition thus (reissue). No. 250 of a limited edition of 600 copies. Muir's work in support of the establishment of Kings Canyon National Park was first published in 1891. A fine copy in publisher's original plain white dust jacket. [40421]

134. MUIR, JOHN. The Story of My Boyhood and Youth. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1913. vii, 294 pp. Illus. with 10 b/w plates. 8vo. Green cloth stamped in black and gilt, gilt titles, top edge gilt. BAL 14768.

First edition, first state. Nine of the plates are from sketches by Muir, who "wrote this autobiographical account near the end of his life about his childhood in Dunbar, Scotland, his immigration to America (1849), his adolescence on a pioneer farmstead near Kingston, Wisconsin, and his student years at the University of Wisconsin at Madison. The Story of My Boyhood and Youth reveals the evolution of Muir's scientific curiosity and the beginnings of his reverential attitude towards nature. Treating his encounters with wildlife as high adventure, he gives especially informed attention to bird life in both Scotland and Wisconsin," (LOC). Provenance: From the library of Kenneth E. Hill, with his bookplate. A very good+ copy, minor rubbing, small bookplate and owner's name on end-papers. [40310]

135. MUIR, JOHN. A Thousand-Mile Walk to the Gulf. William Frederic Bade, intro. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1916. xxvii, 219 pp. Illus. with 1 hand-colored photogravure frontis, 16 b/w plates and 1 map. 8vo. Green buckram over green paper covered boards, green morocco spine label. BAL 14773.

First large paper edition. No. 459 of 550 copies. Muir's first adventure, in 1867, into the world of nature that would become his life thereafter. A trade edition was also published the same year. SUMNER, THOMAS H. A New and Accurate Method of Finding a Ship's Position at Sea, by Projection on Mercator's Chart: When the latitude, longitude, and apparent time at the ship are uncertain; one altitude of the sun, with the true Greenwich time, determines, first, the true bearing of the land; secondly, the errors of longitude by chronometer, consequent to any error in the latitude; thirdly, the sun's true azimuth. When two altitudes are observed, and the elapsed time noted, the true latitude is projected; and if the times be noted by chronometer, the true longitude is also projected at the same operation. The principles of the method being fully explained and illustrated by problems, examples, and plates, with rules for practice, and examples from actual observation. Boston: Thomas Groom, 1843. 79 pp. + plates. Illus. with 9 b/w plates on 6 sheets. Sm. 4to. Publisher's blind stamped brown ribbed cloth illustrated in gilt.

$650.00

First edition. "One of the most famous discoveries in the field of navigation," (Struik: Yankee Science in the Making.) With a good chronometer, a single altitude would determine a line on the chart on a part of which the ship would be positioned. "The method found almost immediate acceptance.... The method in present use follows that of Sumner in considerable detail," (Struik). "It is significant that Sumner was able to introduce this revolutionary principle without seriously upsetting the method by which mariners had been navigating for years. ... almost certainly navigators would not have accepted the line of position so readily had he recommended that they abandon altogether the familiar time sight."(U.S.N. H.O., American Practical Navigator, 1966, p. 55). Very scarce in any edition, but particularly so in the first. Provenance: Kenneth E. Hill (bookplate).
