SUPPORT FOR THE SPANISH MONARCHY BY A FRANCISCAN MINISTER

1. ALAMEDA Y BREA, CIRILO; (SOLER, FRANCISCO JOSÉ). Carta pastoral del Exmô. y Rmô. padre general de San Francisco, dirigida á todos sus religiosos de los dominios de las Españas. México: Oficina de Alejandro Valdes, 1820. [4 pp]. 1 sheet folded. 8vo. Self wrappers.

First edition. Cirilo de Alameda y Brea (1781-1872) was an important Franciscan who exerted considerable influence in the Court of Fernando VII. From 1817 to 1824 he was general minister of the Franciscan Order when this was published. He argues in this letter for support of Ferdinand VII and the rule of law as the Spanish Monarchy was under attack by a mutinous army.

"aunque en 13 del último marzo os dije con la premura del momento cual era vuestro deber para que se respetara el nombre justo que se debe á los Institutos Regulares; no admiréis, amados hijos míos, que os vuelva á amonestar reiterando el mandato de obedecer á las autoridades constituidas, de conservar el orden, y de dar ejemplos de adhesión á los principios del gobierno... Obligación es de mi ministerio pastoral haceros este importante recuerdo en días, que si son de gloria, de admiración y de memoria sempiterna, lo son también de seducción, de equivocaciones monstruosas y de riesgos. El Rey, Fernando el Grande, el Monarca de dos mundos, el Protector de la Iglesia Católica, el Padre de los Regulares, á quien debo y debeis tantos, tan señalados y tan provechosos favores; el Rey de las Españas Fernando VII, amigo y padre de sus pueblos, ha unido la voluntad de todos en la célebre inolvidable, venturosa noche del 7 de marzo. Declaró S. M. que juraría la Constitución de la Monarquía, sancionada en Cádiz en 1812: la juró en efecto, y el gozo, y el inocente placer, y la confianza, y la fraternidad se siguieron al disgusto, á aquel sombrío disgusto que por momentos nos arrastraba al mayor de los males."

OCLC locates only three copies under two accession numbers: Berkeley, Oxford (20559542) and BN Mexico (651373893). A very good or better untrimmed copy; faint foxing at the edges. [43312]

RARE PHOTOGRAPHIC RECORD OF THE ARGENTINEAN MILITARY

2. [ARGENTINA. MILITARY. PHOTOGRAPHY]. Ejercito Argentino. Regimiento no. 3 de Infanteria "General Belgrano". Recuerdo de mi vida militar. Buenos Aires. Año 1940. [Cover Title]. Buenos Aires: n.p., 1940. Unpaged [20 leaves]. Illus. with 19 mounted silver-gelatin photographs with spider-web tissue guards, 29 b/w photo-reproductions on 7 plates, and two small portraits. Obl. 4to. (12 x 8.5 inches). Patterned maroon leather album, two holes with string ties and tassels, gilt titles and illustrations on front board.

First edition. Over forty original signatures and inscriptions, some a paragraph long, on the front pastedown and verso of first leaf, plus one or two later on, all presumably members of the Regiment. Includes a short history of the Regiment. A group photo of 28 officers has a separate bound-in key identifying them by name and rank.

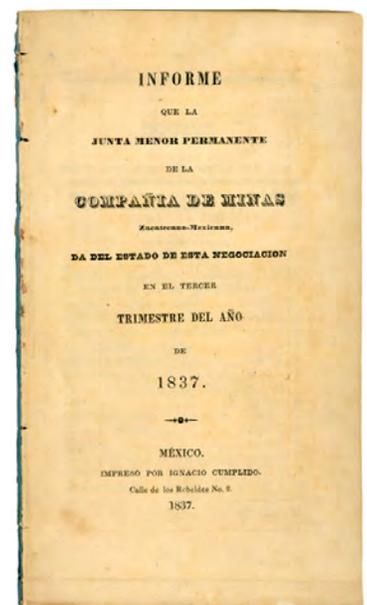

Created on May 29, 1810 and immediately sent as part of the relief expedition to the interior provinces, Regimiento no. 3 de Infanteria "General Belgrano" is the most prestigious brigade in the Argentinean army. This 1940 album, produced on the 140th anniversary of the regiment, was a crucial time for the military in Argentina, with the country officially neutral, but much influenced by the German military. The Regiment was led by General Ambrosio Vago (first photograph), a supporter of the Allies, who had refused to take part in the coup of 1930, though at this time was urging a new coup, along with a number of Axis-leaning officers, to oust President Ramón Castillo, with the goal of holding non-fraudulent elections. But it would be Peron who would lead the coup in 1943, with Vago, though ostensibly a Peronist, not participating, and exiled to Bahia Blanca. A rare photographic record of the Argentinean military before Peron's ascendancy. We could locate no copies of this nor any similar items in OCLC or other Latin American or European library databases. A very good copy with wear to spine ends and corners of boards, writing on front pastedown and on a few leaves, edgeworn first leaf. [41816]

ZACATECA SILVER MINING

3. BAYLLERES, MARIANO; LELO DE LARREA, FRANCISCO. COMPAÑIA DE MINAS ZACA-TECANO-MEXICANA. Informe que la junta menor permanente de la Compañia de Minas Zacatecano-Mexicana, da del estado de esta negociacion en el tercer trimestre del año de 1837. México: Impreso por I. Cumplido, 1837. 66 pp., [7] folded leaves of plates. 8vo. Disbound. Sutro 716c1. Goldsmiths'-Kress: 29836.12. Villaseñor: Ignacio Cumplido: p. 36. See López de Azcona: Minería iberoamericana: Bibliografía minera hispano americana 1099 & 1100 [1838,1840].

First edition. The British had lost their shirts in the frenzy to invest in Mexican silver mines after 1821. "Between 1825 and 1850, a half-dozen British mining companies were established in Mexico. They all collapsed" (Ivani Vassoler, "The Mexican Mining Bubble that Burst," pp. 431-2). The original Zacatec-as mining operations had also failed, but was reorganized as the Compañía de Minas Zacatecano-Mex-icana, its charter published in 1835. The current report, the first issued by the company identifies a continuing host of problems, delays, equipment breakdowns, and rising costs due in large part to the price of quicksilver, which was controlled by the Rothschild Monopoly:

"Uno de los muchos obstáculos que se han opuesto hasta ahora á la marcha prospera de la negociación, ha sido la excesiva carestía en todos los efectos de consumo, que ha destruido el justo equilibrio entre los costos y productos de aquella. Sabidos son los sacrificios que ha hecho la compañía, con particularidad para proveerse del azogue necesario á los beneficios, y también está al alcance de todos que comprado al precio á que lo ha hecho subir en los últimos meses su escasez en esta república, no es posible que se obtengan ventajas con las leyes que constan en el estado que precede de las haciendas de beneficio. Nos prometemos que este mal desaparecerá en el actual trimestre por la disminución que habrá en el valor de todos los efectos de que se hace un consumo diario en las minas, atendida la abundante cosecha de ellos que se esperaba, y muy particularmente por las remesas de azogue que nos hagan de Europa, en cumplimiento de nuestro pedido. Han llegado ya á Veracruz 300 frascos correspondientes á este, y sabemos que estaban comprados por nuestra cuenta hasta 1.000 quintales, que se nos enviarán en los primeros buques que se presenten. De este modo sacaremos todas las ventajas que sean posibles en el estado de monopolio en que se encuentra dicho artículo."

In addition to the extensive financial data, the report includes detailed descriptions of the Ciudad del Fresno, the mines, processing operations, and banks. Other, smaller reports, were issued in 1840, 1841, and 1842. Scarce. Not in BN Mexico (has 1841). Not in NUC (has 1840). OCLC shows only three locations for physical copies of this first report: BL (2), BN Spain, Univ. London. Removed from a larger volume, last plate almost detached else contents near fine. [43307]

4. BELLEGARDE, DANTÈS. Haiti and Her Problems. Four Lectures. Richard Pattee, foreword. Rio Piedras, P.R.: University of Puerto Rico, 1936. 57 pp. Illus. with 1 b/w photo. Sm. 4to. Paper wrappers.

First edition. The University of Puerto Rico Bulletin. Series VII.- No. 1 September 1936. A series of four lectures delivered in the University of Puerto Rico under the auspices of Ibero American Institute of the University, April, 1936, concerning economic conditions and foreign relations. A very good copy, small tears at spine ends, corner chip to the lower front and upper rear wrappers, contents crisp. [43161]

5. [BODEGAS Y VIÑEDOS GIOL]. [Winery Advertising Label] Bodegas y Viñedos Giol Maipú Mendoza. S. A. Industrial y Comercial. Paraguay 4902 Buenos Aires. n.p. [ca 1940s]. 34.5 cm. diameter.

Unused industrial label. Red and black lettering on a yellow background and blue band. Center image is a sun and its rays breaking through clouds with the words Buenos Aires in red. Lot number and quantity left blank along with a blank square for product label. The winery began between 1896 and 1898 when its founders bought 44 hectares in the Department of Maipú. In 1914 the Banco Rio de la Plata acquired all of the winery, in which a controlling interest was then acquired by the government and eventually complete ownership. The winery was the largest in Argentina in the 1940s, controlling 50% of the market. But as growth slowed, the winery was privatized in the 1990s by selling it to a cooperative. A beautiful and colorful large label from one of the great wine growing regions in the world. We could locate no copies of this or any related advertising. [43178]

WARNING THAT SPAIN WILL AGAIN BE MISTRESS OF THE ANTILLES

6. [BONNEAU, ALEXANDRE]. Les Intérêts français et européens à Santo Domingo. Paris: E. Dentu, 1861. 31 pp. Advertisements on rear wrapper. Sm. 4to. Yellow / orange paper wrappers, tissue guards. Sabin 6310 & 75136. H. Ling Roth: Bibliography and Cartography Hispaniola: p. 48. Not in Cundall.

$2000

First edition. After decades of battles between Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Spain, and France, the then free nation of the Dominican Republic was handed over to Spain in 1861 by Dominican dictator Pedro Santana, who for a few titles and privileges, annexed the country back to Spanish rule. Bonneau, in this scarce work, argues that the annexation of Dominicanie to Spain is detrimental to other nations, because it makes Spain mistress of navigation in the antilles in La République d'Haïti: "The former island of Santo Domingo, Haiti, the most beautiful in the Caribbean, is currently the scene of a sudden revolution, which would be fatal to the political balance, trade and freedom, if the governments of Europe and America do not hasten to safeguard their interests and the cause of justice. We refer to the annexation or rather the occupation of the Dominican Republic by Spain." He notes that Dominican leaders tried to shop their newly formed nation to various larger countries, with Spain being the one to accept because, "since its adventurous campaign against Moroccans, Spain thinks it will again play an important role in the world... and... She has designed a comprehensive plan of conquest and annexation [because] she wants to recover all losses of her former American colonies one by one." He ends with a dire warning: "[Spain] aspires to burn all that we love... "Soyons donc sages, soyons prudents, et conservons dans les Antilles tous nos moyens d'action, si nous ne voulons pas voir un jour l'Espagne, s'unissant contre nous avec une autre puissance maritime, nous interdire l'accès du golfe du Mexique et nous enlever tout ce que nous possédons encore dans l'archipel des Antilles." Most modern authors attribute the work to Alexandre Bonneau (1820-1890) who wrote numerous books on Hispaniola (including "Haïti ses progrès, son avenir: avec un précis historique sur ses constitutions, le texte de la constitution actuellement en vigueur, et une bibliographie d'Haïti" Paris: E. Dentu, 1862). Sabin has this work under two numbers, one with Bonneau listed as author and one with no author. And Samuel Hazard attributes it to Charolais ("Santo Domingo" New York: Harpers, 1872, p. xxiii). Rare. We could locate none at auction in at least the last fifty years. OCLC and European catalogues locate only three copies, two at the British Library and one at the BN France. A very good or better copy, faint mail fold, rubbing at top edge, stamped paper with French revenue stamp in black ink on verso of half-title and p. 18. [43214]

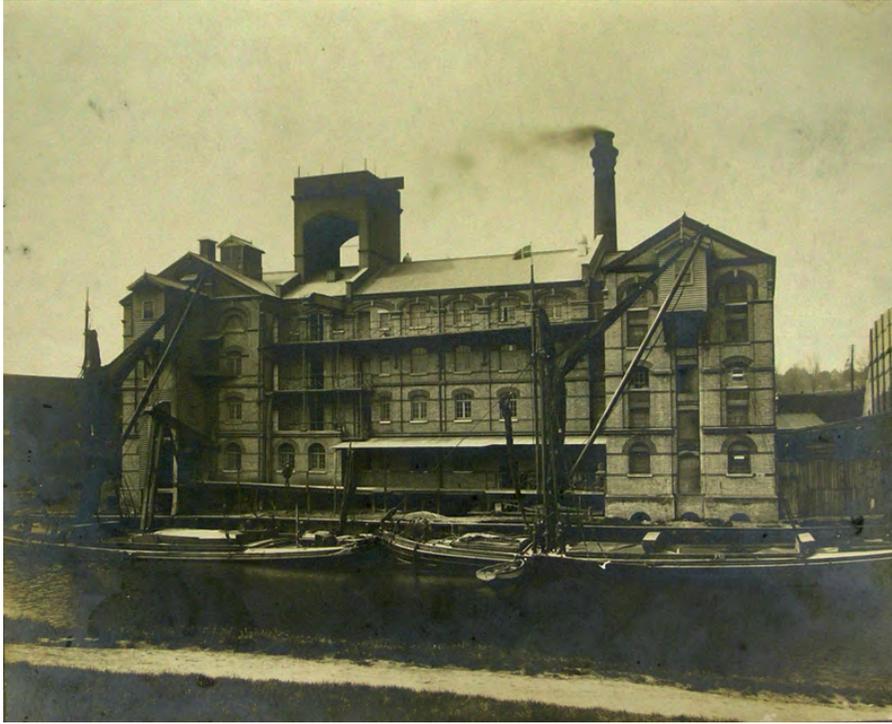

7. [BRAZIL. PHOTOGRAPHS]. PHOTO HALLIFAX. [Album of Ten Industrial Photographs]. [Rio de Janeiro]: [ca. 1930]. 8 leaves. 12 x 14 inches. String-tied plain paper wrappers.

First edition. Rafael Sabas Camacho Garcia (1826-1908) was one of two brothers who were successively bishops of Querétaro, Ramon from 1868-1885 and Rafael from 1885-1908. He founded the Escuela de Musica Sagrada, the first liturgical music school in México, out of which evolved the Orfeon Queretano, oldest choral group still performing in Mexico. This sermon was preached while he was still a priest in Guadalajara. Scarce. OCLC locates only one copy, Berkeley. Provenance: Biblioteca Oscar G. Chavez, San Luis Potosi (stamp). Removed from a larger volume, private library stamp on title page and two other leaves, else a very good copy. [43311]

CRITICIZES THE CHILEAN CONSITUTION OF 1833

10. CARMONA, MANUEL ANTÓNIO. Manifiesto de Aconcagua. Cuaderno 2. Santiago: Imprenta del Siglo, 1846. 80 pp. Sm. 8vo. Paper wrappers. Palau 44665. Vicuña Mackenna: Bibliografía americana... Gregorio Beéche p. 604. Briseño: Catalogo de la biblioteca chileno-americana 2693.

$250

First edition. Manuel Ant3nio Carmona (1810-1886) was one of the earliest medical students in Chile, being a pioneer in the prehistory of neuropsychiatry, involved in the Phineas Gage case, "de uno de los próceres más desconocidos de nuestra ciencia," as described by Francisco Aravena F. (La vida eterna de Phineas Gage, 2015), as well as a political activist who argued against Diego Portales and the Chilean Consitution of 1833 (see item 11 below), which was hated by the liberals, and called the 1828 version it replaced: "un monumento que atestigua el último triunfo de la libertad,"(Manifiesto de Aconcagua, page 58). In 1835 he and Jose Antonio Argomedo had created a newspaper to denounce judges, the military, the Catholic Church, the Chilean medical establishment, "or any other person who fails to fulfill his duties." Two other issues of the Manifiesto were published, No.1 in 1845 and No. 3 in 1849. Rare. OCLC locates copies of this issue at UCLA and BN Chile, which also has the only copies found of 1 & 3. A very good copy with repair to spine, light soiling on wrappers, contents clean and bright. [41826]

ONE OF THE LONGEST RUNNING LATIN AMERICA CONSTITUTIONS

11. [CHILE]. Constitucion de la republica de Chile jurada y promulgada el 25 de Mayo de 1833. Santiago: Imprenta de la Opinion, 1845. ii, [3]-48 pp. 8vo. (22 cm.). Paper wrappers. Palau 59731. Briseño I: p. 75. Sabin 12757 (I st. ed.).

Second edition. Segunda edicion. Drafted as a result of the civil war of 1829, the new Chilean Constitution of 1833 was a victory for a conservative authoritarian government as envisioned by Diego Portales, which would last for nearly a century. By weakening the legislature and assuming control of the judiciary the executive was firmly in control, a situation which led the liberals to eventually revolt nearly two decades later. But the constitution remained one of the longest running in Latin America, and was not completely replaced until 1925. None located at auction and only one of the first in 1981 at Sotheby's. OCLC locates six copies of this edition: LOC, Harvard Law, Univ. Minn. Law, Princeton, Temple, BN Chile and about a dozen more of the first. A wide margined untrimmed copy with original printed tissue wrappers, spine reinforced, light soiling on front wrapper with small tear, last few leaves and rear wrapper dampstained along bottom edge, owner's name on top edge of title page, still about very good. [41819]

12. [CHILE. RAILROADS]. Estaciones de los Ferrocarriles del Estado. n.p. [Chile]: Imprenta de los ff. cc. del estado, n.d. (ca. 1900). 11 5/8 x 20 3/4 inches. $75

Four columns with decorative border listing the stations of the state railroads in the four districts (administracion) and the FF. CC. del Norte. Eleven station names added in manuscript.

Very good overall, folds, marginal chips and manuscript notations. [43150]

CHILEAN REVOLUTION OF 1891

13. [CHILE]. [VICUÑA, CLAUDIO]. [Spine Title] Folletos Varios. El Ministerio Vicuña 1891-1893. Santiago de Chile & Paris, Various. 1892 -1893. Sm. 4to. Quarter morocco over maroon cloth boards, stamped in blind, five raised bands, gilt title and rules; original wrappers bound in.

$225

First editions. Consists of five bound-in pamphlets, all with original paper wrappers, concerning Claudio Vicuña Guerrero (1833-1907), appointed Minister of the Interior by José Manuel Balmaceda in 1890 as he made his break from the Congress, and Chile's only elected President not to serve, since the Revolution of 1891 overturned the political landscape. Vicuña fled to Europe with the victory of Montt's forces, not returning until 1895. Contents overall very good, professional repairs to one wrapper, a few notations, two volumes signed, one volume with detached leaf, all in a very good binding. [41799]

LEADING CREOLE PLANTER ARGUES FOR JUSTICE

14. COMTE DE LÉAUMONT, JEAN-SUZANNE. Pétition. Présentée par M. Le Comte de Léaumont, au nom des Colons de Saint-Domingue, à la Chambre des Députés. Imprimerie de Marchand du Breuil, 1823. 16 pp. 8vo. Self wrappers.

$2000

*First edition. Comte de Léaumont (1756–1831) was a creole planter from les Cayes, deputy to the Colonial Assembly, and at this time one of the leading colonial refugees from Santo Domingo, and founder of the Société des propriétaires de Sant-Domingue in 1819, an organization of powerful colons organized to sway public opinion and lobby for their positions which ranged from the military reconquest of Saint Domingue, monetary restitution by the state, as had been the case of metropolitan aristocrats who received indemnity for their losses under the French Revolution, and/or if all else failed, protection from their metropolitan creditors, as both Napoleon and the Bourbons had done. But by the earlier 1820s resistance was growing to another suspension. Leaumont was unflagging in his defense of the colons as a contemporary note: "Every year, if some member of the Chamber of Deputies expressed the wish to see an end to the uncertain situation of Santo Domingo, a letter from Mr. De Leaumont, published in newspapers and sent home at the offender or his accomplices, had officially protest against any treaty which might be concluded between the King of France and 'rebellious slaves ...'" (Jean Baptiste G. Wallez, Précis historique des négociations entre la France et Saint-Domingue, Paris: Chez Monthieu, 1826; pp. 430-439). In this Pétition, Léaumont again argues the planters positions about the funds to be allocated for the 'colons.' Rare. OCLC, COPAC, and other European Library databases locate no copies. A work with the same title but dated 25 mai 1824 is at the Bibliotheque Nationale de France (OCLC: 466504718). A very good unopened (uncut) copy with marginal dampstain to lower right corner throughout, faint foxing on front wrapper, else clean and bright. [43213]*

DECREE TO RE-COLONIZE TEXAS AFTER THE BATTLE OF SAN JACINTO

15. CORRO, JOSÉ JUSTO; ITURBIDE, JOAQUIN DE. El Exmo. Sr. Presidente interino de la República Mexicana se ha servido dirigirme el decreto que sigue : "El Presidente interino de la República Mexicana, á los habitantes de ella, sabed: Que el Congreso general ha decretado lo siguiente. El Gobierno, de acuerdo con el Consejo, procederá á hacer efectiva la colonizacion de los terrenos que sean y deban ser de propiedad de la República....[México]: 1837. 1 sheet. 22 x 31 cm.

First edition. This broadside promulgates the decree for colonizing the lands in Texas "los terrenos que sean y deban ser de propiedad de la República," with a price of no less than ten reales per acre, as part of the plans of José Justo Corro (1794-1864), interim president of Mexico, to continue the war with Texas, despite Mexico having lost the Battle of San Jacinto. Dated Mexico Abril 4 de 1837, signed in type Jose Justo Corro and Joaquin de Iturbide. Mexico would win the naval battle on the Brazos River two weeks later while Corro would resign just two days after that. Scarce. Rare Book Hub and ABPC show only one at auction (Swann, 1981). OCLC locates one copy, trimmed, at the Huntington (OCLC: 839850640) and a copy of the decree at Brown (OCLC: 37962467). A very good copy, minor creasing, small one inch separation at edge of fold. 19. (DOMINICAN REPUBLIC). PUERTO RICO. [Archive of the War for the Independence of the Dominican Republic including seven manuscripts and the first printed newspaper of the new Republic]. Santo Domingo & Puerto Rico: Imprenta Nacional, 1844. 9 lvs (13 manuscript pages); [10 pp.]. Folio & 8 vo. Disbound. Rodríguez Demorizi: Guerra dominico-haitiana 30a. Martínez Paulino: Publicaciones Periódicas Dominicanas desde la Colonia (2nd ed): pp. 38-9.

First edition. Seven manuscripts from Spanish Colonial officials and one printed pamphlet by a Dominican rebel all from the very earliest moments of independence. An interesting and rare series of documents revealing both the Spanish and Dominican views on the Dominican Revolution. On 27th February 1844 Santo Domingo declared independence from Haiti, for the second time, the first having lasted only a few months in 1821. The Spanish, who had lost Hispaniola at that earlier time, watched the unfolding events with concern as reflected here in these Spanish colonial documents, mostly official copies which discuss the safety of Haitian troops, French-speaking residents, and Spanish citizens in the new República Dominicana, and summarize and report on the rapidly evolving independence movement as well as the efforts of Haitians of African-descent to thwart the rebellion. Both sides were viewed with some trepidation by Spanish colonial officials in Puerto Rico.

The printed document is the first printed periodical in the Dominican Republic: "El Eco Dominicano," (Santo Domingo: Imprenta Nacional, 25 April 1842 corrected in manuscript to 1844). It collects the first news of the Dominican-Haitian war and begins:

"It appears that a lot of disinformation is being circulated from the Haitian newspapers regarding the putative rebellion of the Dominican people (against the Spanish Crown). It would also seem that there is a fleet of 43 ships of 30,000 men willing to compel Santo Domingo to sever ties with Spain. Our men, at the orders of General Pedro Santana, have deployed themselves to all parts of the Dominican territory in order to protect it from foreign invaders. ... Let it be known to the Haitian that in spite of the fact that they are larger in number, the Dominicans are more gallant and will defend their territory. Should the hostilities continue, Santo Domingo will be ready to launch a frontal attack on Haiti."

No other issues are known to exist. A few of the manuscripts (copies) are located in Cuban archives. We could locate no copies of "El Eco Dominicano" in OCLC, NUC, COPAC, CCILA, or any online catalogues. Copies are however reported by Rodríguez Demorizi at the Archivo del Historiador Nacional Garcia and the Archivo Nacional Habana. Very good copies with minor wear to fore edge, a few pin-size holes along inner margins, some browning, bleeding of ink on one manuscript, old stab holes on pamphlet, front wrapper soiled, contemporary owner's signature. [43118]

Manuscripts:

1. February 28, 1844, A translation of the Capitulation of the Haitian troops negotiated through the mediation of the French Consul, dated 28 February to be enacted 29 February 1844. Its ten articles establish that the property of the French troops and families that inhabit the Spanish part of the island will be protected along with their physical integrity during the transition, free passage will be allowed, weapons controlled, debts settled. (A copy with the seal of the General Captaincy of Puerto Rico) 2 pp.

2. February 29, 1844, "La Junta Gubernativa Provisional de la República Dominicana," establishes that the property of the French people that inhabit the Spanish part of the island will be protected along with their physical integrity. Signed: El Presidente de la Junta, firmado, Bobadilla.- Vicepresidente, firmado, Manuel Jiménez.- Firmado, Manuel María Valverde.- Francisco J. Abreu.- Félix Mercenario.- Carlos Moreno.- Echavarría.- Francisco Sánchez.- Caminero.- R. Mella.- El Secretario de la Junta, Silvano Pujol (A copy with the seal of the General Captaincy of Puerto Rico) 1 pp.

3. March 14, 1844. Santiago Mendez de Vigo notifies on 14/3/1844 that the political situation in Santo Domingo is now evolving towards independence. In addition, it should be noted that Haitian mulattos have assaulted Spanish ships sailing near Venezuelan waters. (A copy with the seal of the General Captaincy of Puerto Rico) 3 pp.

4. March 22, 1844. The situation in Santo Domingo has evolved in favour of the independence movement. Some Spaniards present in that island have asked from the protection of HM Government in Havana. We are waiting to see how the situation evolves before we decide what to do on the matter. Signed: Puerto Rico, 22 March 1844. Santiago Mendez de Vigo. (A copy with the seal of the General Captaincy of Puerto Rico) 2 pp.

5. March 28, 1844. A letter to the Captain General of Havana attaching the report concerning the political situation in the island of Santo Domingo. Signed in manuscript by Santiago Mendez de Vigo, Puerto Rico, 28 de Marzo de 1844. (With the seal of the General Captaincy and Political Government of Puerto Rico) 1 pp.

6. May 24, 1844, Reports on information from a number of mainly English schooners on movements of troops and on young black men and women, entering the island aboard an assortment of ships most of which have set sail from Venezuela. Signed: from Curasao, 24 May 1844. [followed by a note] saying that since the state of insurrection against the Spanish part of the island continues, great care should be taken in order to defend our territory; if we do not want to see a black man becoming the President. "El Guarico también ha desconocido el Gobierno de Guierrier, y el general Pierrot que se ha puesto a la cabeza se ha constituido Presidente del Norte; ya hay en la parte francesa 4 presidentes pero todos negros. «No se pasarán muchos días sin que veamos un Presidente negro en la parte Española de Santo Domingo, porque no dejará de haber algún tizón que los estimule porque en la Isla abundan estos marchantes demasiado." Signature not legible (A copy) 4 pp.

7. August 3, 1844. Reports that they have verified that the vessel "Leonora" does not pose any threat to the island. Signed: from Curasao, 3 August 1844. (A copy with the seal of the General Captaincy of Puerto Rico) 1 pp.

ANTI-BOLIVAR MEMOIR

20. DUCOUDRAY HOLSTEIN, H. L. V. (HENRI LA FAYETTE VILLAUME). Memoirs of Simon Bolivar, President Liberator of the Republic of Colombia; and of his Principal Generals; Secret History of the Revolution and the Events which Preceded it, from 1807 to the present time. With an Introduction Containing an Account of the Statistics and the Present Situation of said Republic, Education, Character, Manners and Customs of the Inhabitants. Boston: S.G. Goodrich, 1829. 64, 383 pp. Sm. 4to. Original quarter brown cloth with paper label over blue-gray paper covered boards. Sabin 21069. Palau 76386 Shoemaker 38425. Griffin 3693.

First edition. "By a former Napoleonic officer who served with the patriots in New Granada and Venezuela and ultimately left in high disgruntlement. An often vitriolic source, much favored by Bolivar's calumniators, but useful if handled with care" (Griffin, p. 338). A two volume edition was released in England in 1830. Scarce in the trade. The first edition last at auction in 1978 at the NYHS sale. Spine ends and boards worn, some soiling and scuffs, first blank just starting, owner's name on free front endpaper, light marginal foxing to last leaves, a few leaves uncut, overall still about very good. RARE PLEA FOR FRENCH COLONISTS

21. DU HAMEL, [LOUIS-JOSEPH]. Opinion De M. le Cte du Hamel, Député de la Gironde, Sur les Colons de Saint-Domingue. Séance du 16 Juin 1821. No. 176. [Paris]: impr. de Hacquart, 1821. 8 pp. 8vo. Removed. $2000

First edition. The French Government had failed since the revolution to reach an agreement with Haiti to return to France. Force was out of the question. In 1821 France tried again to get the Haitians to submit to French sovereignty. Du Hamel does not argue against this:

"Il est impossible de mettre en doute, qu'uné des pensées les plus constantes du Gouvernement, ne doive être la grande question de renouer les liens qui unissaient à la France sa plus belle colonie, je dois même ajouter, là plus belle colonie du monde; mais si nous- devons avec confiance croire que nous rendre Saint-Domingue et ses trésors, est dans la haute politique , aussi bien que dans le premier intérêt de la métropole, il est peut-être des Moyens d'arriver à ce but, que la sagesse et la prudence du Gouvernement se réservent à elles seules de connaître et d'employer." Rather he argues that the government should not abandon those who its revolutionary principles displaced in Haiti: its settlers. Of the amount set aside to aid these colonists he says: "This sum is notoriously insufficient, -at least as regards the settlers of Saint Domingo, who number about five thousand- to make... even... their basic needs. Indeed, gentlemen, the maximum relief is 600 francs per year; this is what the once wealthy owner of about a half a million francs receives... Many settlers, who had retained some income did not want to line up to ask for help, but having exhausted their small resources, and unable to obtains loans, despite the legitimacy of their rights, they are demanding it today." If the government absolved aristocrats of their losses under the French Revolution then why not the planters and colonists too. He ends: "Our brothers in Santo Domingo. ... ask for enough compensation to live on; can we refuse them !. .. I question your justice, your loyalty and charity, until the mystery of the [government's] policy becomes clear in French Saint-Domingue, which belongs to them".

Rare. OCLC, COPAC, and other European Library databases show only a single copy at the Bibliotheque Nationale de France (OCLC: 457304752). A very good unopened (uncut) and untrimmed copy, removed from a larger volume. [43212]

THE MOST FAMOUS WORK ON THE BRITISH WEST INDIES

22. EDWARDS, BRYAN. The History, Civil and Commercial, of the British Colonies in the West Indies [Two Volumes]. London: Printed for John Stockdale, 1793-1794. xxxvi, 24, 494 pp.; 520 pp.; + plates. Illus. with b/w 16 plates and maps, 3 of which are folding (1 map in 2 sheets, both folding). Sm. 4to. Tree calf bordered in gilt, rebacked with original spines laid down, new labels, gilt title. Sabin 21901. Ragatz: p. 165. Griffin 2796. ESTC T136756.

$2500

Second edition. "A classic in British Caribbean literature and probably the most famous work in the field. Standard for over a century, and still in many respects the best book on the subject up to the close of the 18th century," (Ragatz: British Caribbean History, p. 165). Edwards was a wealthy and successful Caribbean planter, merchant, and banker, and this work reflects that point of view as he argues for free trade with the United States, local autonomy, and the continuation but regulation of slavery. A valuable work for portraying conditions in the period between the conclusion of the American Revolution and the halt to trafficking in slaves. Very good copies with chips to ends and edges of back-strips; new spine labels; 3" chip to margin of 1 leaf (p.57, Vol. II), endpapers offset at edges; plates clean but for light marginal foxing; except first part of large folding map with repaired tear in blank area; 1 map and 1 plate foxed. [43145]

First edition. We could not locate any information on this mining company, most likely formed to profit from the gold fields on the tributaries of the Rucio River, which contained the largest and richest placers. A very good copy with soiling on wrappers and first page, small chip to corner of rear wrapper, small crease to lower corner throughout. [42944]

CENTENNIAL EDITION OF CHILE'S NATIONAL EPIC UNOPENED IN ORIGINAL WRAPPERS

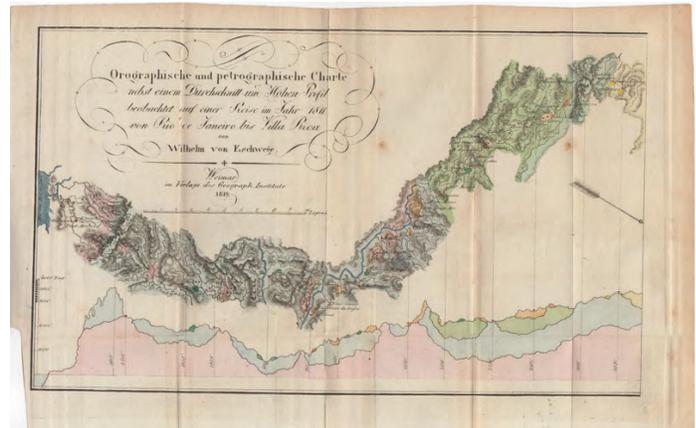

24. ERCILLA Y ZÚÑIGA, ALONSO DE. MEDINA, JOSÉ TORIBIO, ED. La Araucana de D. Alonso de Ercilla y Zúñiga. Edición del centenario. Ilustrada con grabados, documentos, notas históricas y bibliográficas y una biografía del autor. [Five Volumes]. Santiago de Chile: Imprenta Elzeviriana, 1910-1918. Illus. with b/w plates, photos, drawings, facsimiles, and map. Folio. Original publisher's paper wrappers. Palau 80441. Aquila: Aa53. $2000

Centennial edition (First edition thus). One of 600 copies. Medina's fabulous edition of Chile's national epic. Volume I: Texto (1910). II: Vida de Ercilla (1917). III & IV: Ilustraciones (1917). V: Documentos (1918). Uncommon in the trade and even more so in unopened condition. ABPC and American Exchange show only one sold at auction in the last half century. In original wrappers, untrimmed and unopened but for the first few leaves in one volume. They all have their original wrappers, but on three volumes they are detached, one of which is repaired with cello tape and a few are quite ragged as expected. The spines on a few are chipped or fragile, and all have foxing across the top edge of the wrappers. Contents fine and very wide margined. [43299]

$1500

First edition. Louis Feuillée (1660-1732) was a member of the Franciscan Order, explorer, astronomer, geographer, and botanist. In 1707, he voyaged on his second South American trip to Argentina and Chile and after a month of astronomic, botanical, and zoological surveys went on to Valparaíso and Peru. He returned to France to publish this work. A third volume, a supplement, was published in 1725. In addition to the fifty botanical plates, there are numerous views, a folding map of South America, and a number of excellent panoramas and harbor plans. Boards worn, split at upper rear hinge, head and tail pieces mostly worn away, institutional book plates on front pastedowns, one plate detached, two leaves misbound at p.686, about half a dozen leaves with very tiny burn marks, some minor damp-staining otherwise quite clean and very good. IN DEFENSE OF SPAIN IN LATIN AMERICA

27. GELPÍ Y FERRO, GIL. Estudios sobre la América. Conquista, colonización, gobiernos coloniales y gobiernos independientes [Four Volumes in Two]. Habana: Librería é Imprenta "El Iris", 1864-1870. [2], v, 314 pp.; Frontis, 130, 129, 162, 15 pp. 8vo. Quarter red morocco over marbled boards, four raised bands, gilt titles, marbled endpapers. Palau 101096. Trelles IV, p. 211.

First edition. Published over six years by Gil Gelpí y Ferro (1826-1894) a journalist, the book was aimed at the general public and was intended to correct Spanish and Latin American historians who maligned Spain. A comprehensive history dealing with the voyages, discovery, and colonization of the Americas including chapters on the Indians, the organization of the colonies, the encomiendas, the role of the clergy, and the further developments of industry, agriculture, science, and literature. Republished in Montevideo in 1897-98. Very good copies with spine and boards scuffed, front joint split half way in second volume; light foxing in first volume with bookseller's stamp on first blank, and on title in second volume, spines mis-numbered. DON'T DANCE IN BRAZIL

28. GRANT, ANDREW. History of Brazil, Comprising a Geographical Account of that Country, together with a Narrative of the most Remarkable Events which have Occurred there since its Discovery, a Description of the Manners, Customs, Religion, &c. of the Natives and Colonists, Interspersed with Remarks on the Nature of its Soil, Climate, Productions and Foreign and Internal Commerce, to which are Subjoined Cautions to New Settlers for the Preservation of Health. London: Printed for Henry Colburn, 1809. [8], 304 pp. 8vo. Full marbled calf, spine decorated in gilt, brown morocco spine label. Sabin 28291. Borba de Moraes I: 374.

First edition. The earliest history of Brazil in English. "As well as a history of Brazil since the arrival of the Portuguese, it gives detailed accounts of its geography, ports, and natural resources, as well as hints for health when visiting the country, including an exhortation to avoid dancing on arriving in tropical regions. Throughout the work, Grant was highly critical of the actions and effects of the colonizers and condemned the forced importation of Jews and the continued importation of African slaves. He praised the work of the Jesuits in gaining the esteem of the native people, in contrast to the attempts made by the colonizers to enslave the population," (ONDB 11245, accessed 25 Sept. 2015). Much information on the Dutch occupation of Northeastern Brazil in the early seventeenth century in the first six chapters. Written shortly after the British gained preferential trading rights, Grant, a doctor, cautioned about the dangers of the climate. A French edition (Histoire du Brésil, 1811) and a German (Andrew Grant's ... beschreibung von Brasilien, 1814) appeared within a few years. Only two found at auction in the last quarter century. Provenance: Walter R. Jones (signed), most likely Walter Restored Jones (of Cold Spring Harbor, d. 1855) involved in shipping, whaling, and insurance as well as legal problems in Brazil. A very good or better copy, minor wear to extremities, small scuff mark to rear board, endpapers with offsetting, shadow of bookplate on front pastedown, owner's name on top margin of title; leaves clean. LIVINGSTON CODES AMENDED

29. [GUATEMALA. MINISTERIO GENERAL DEL GOBIERNO DEL ESTADO DE GUATEMALA]. [SALAZAR, CARLOS]. N. 89. Boletin Oficial Pg. 235. Ministerio gral. Del Supremo Gobierno del Estado de Guatemala. [Guatemala]: n.p., 1837. [4 pp.]. 8vo. Disbound.

First edition. Contains two amendments to the Livingston Codes, which established trial by jury and circuit courts in regions that had been isolated from the state. The Livingston Codes were highly unpopular among the indigenous population, and so changes were made, but the amendments (March 16 and March 19, 1837), just two month after the adoption of the Codes, were not enough and the Liberal government of Mariano Galvez was forced to repeal them a year later and then would fall to the forces of Rafael Carrera. The remainder of the Boletin is not present. A few stab marks not effecting legibility, minor browning on the untrimmed edges, Boletin ends mid sentence of an unrelated ordinance. [42940]

TWO BROADSIDES DECLARING CARRERA PRESIDENT FOR LIFE

30. [GUATEMALA]. JUNTA GENERAL DE AUTORIDADES. Acta de la Junta General de Autoridades. funcionarios publicos, prelados eclesiasticos, gefes militares y diputaciones de las corpa-ciones, en que se aclamo Presidente Perpetuo de la Republica de Guatemala al Exmo. Sr. Capitan Gral. Don Rafael Carerra. [Guatemala]: n.p. 1854. 1 sheet. 53.5 x 78 cm. (21 x 30 3/4 inches). Broadside. $1750

Dated 21 October 1854. Declaration followed by list of authorities within elaborate border. The larger (by nearly four times) and more elaborate of two versions of this broadside proclaiming Rafael Carrera as President for life (see next item). José Rafael Carrera Turcios (1814-1865) was the president of Guatemala in two distinct periods: 1844 to 1848, when his policies attempted to balance liberal aspirations against the conservative elite, and from 1851 to 1865, during which period he was president for life, when he closely allied himself with the conservative establishment, the church hierarchy, and the rich landowners. As the most influential politician in Guatemala, with virtually monarchical powers, Carrera also intervened in the development of his neighboring states to aid the conservative rule in El Salvador and Honduras. No copies of this version located on OCLC, COPAC, European Libraries, CCILA., or any Latin American Libraries. A very good copy, minor edgewear, fold, closed tear. [43558]

31.[GUATEMALA]. JUNTA GENERAL DE AUTORIDADES. Acta de la Junta Gral. de Autoridades. funcionarios publicos, prelados eclesiasticos, gefes militares y diputaciones de las corpa-ciones, en que se aclamo Presidente Perpetuo de la Republica de Guatemala al Exmo. Sr. Capitan Gral. Don Rafael Carerra. [Guatemala]: Imprenta de la Paz, 1854. 1 sheet. 30.2 x 42.2 cm. 12 x 16 1/2 inches). Broadside.

The smaller and less elaborate of two versions of this broadside. This one printed on green, rather than plain, paper, as some were. Declaration followed by list of authorities. While there are no copies located on OCLC, COPAC, European Libraries, CCILA., or any Latin American Libraries, this issue is held at archives of two institutions: Central American Printed Ephemera Collection at Tulane and Miscellaneous Broad-sides Collection, Nettie Lee Benson Latin American Collection, the University of Texas at Austin. About fine, some minor creasing at corners. [43557]

SAINT-DOMINGUE RELIEF LOAN

32. [HAITI]. Loi Relative aux moyens de secourir la Colonie de Saint-Domingue. Donnée à Paris, le 29 Juin 1792, l'an IV. de la Liberté. Consignée dans les registres du Département de la Meurthe, le 24 Juillet suivant. [No. 1412]. Nancy [France]: Chez Haener, Imprimeur du Département de la Meurthe, 1792. 4 pp. Illus. with a woodcut headpiece. Sm. 4to. Self wrappers.

$2350

First edition. Signed (illegible). Law authorizing negotiation with the United States minister to obtain food and construction materials in the amount of 4,000,000 livres, to be paid by the French Treasury but to be reimbursed by taxes on the colony. The money was much needed as the loan decree, dated 26 Juin 1792, came in the midst of unparalleled upheaval in Haiti. The revolution of the year before, with its "horrible carnage" had now given way "to strategic military operations, tactical maneuvers and new political alliances as the slaves gain territory and stabilize their positions. They raid plantations for military equipment, loot the whites' forces after they are repelled, and trade with the Spanish for weaponry" (Kona Shen, History of Haiti, The Revolution Builds, Brown University. library. brown.edu/haitihistory/6.html). Toussaint Louverture is a rising star, Civil Commissions arrive from France, free blacks and mulattos in Saint-Domingue are granted equal political rights, Spain declares war on England and France, and battle ensues for control of Haiti. The U.S. is concerned with conditions on the island and in fact Jefferson writes of his concern to the Marquis de Lafayette (16 June 1792). Rare. OCLC, BN France, and other European Libraries locate no copies of this issue (No. 1412, with additional text concerning the Departement de la Meurthe). A Paris printing (No. 1813) can be found at Cornell, Univ. Minn., and JCB which also has a Toulouse printing. Manioc (Bibliotheque) shows a digitized version of the Paris imprint. A very good copy with pin holes along inner margin, two soiled spots, signed in ink on last page. [43209]

INSCRIBED BY THE PHOTOGRAPHER

33. HOLTON, GEORGE. Indios de Guatemala. Fotografías en colores. Guatemala: Litografía Byron Zadik & Cia. S. C. Sucs, [ca. 1975]. 8 leaves of plates. Illus. with 8 color plates. 4to. Loose plates in color illustrated card portfolio.

$450

First edition. Warmly inscribed by the author in April, 1976. Photographs of Indians of Guatemala in their native costumes. Each image measures 8 x 8 inches printed on 10 x 12 inch glossy stock, signed in print beneath each photograph and captioned in Spanish and English titles. George Holton (d. 1979) was a travel photographer whose work was published in Popular Photography, National Geographic, Smithsonian, and National Audubon and numerous other periodicals and books. Though work meant maintaining a New York base, he kept a residence in Guatemala on the shores of Lake Atitlán. Holton had worked before with Litografía Byron Zadik who produced high quality lithographs. Contents: 1. Efigie de Judas (Santa Maria de Jesus, Guatemala); 2. Baile de la Conquista. Masked Dancers: Dance of Conquest (Solola); 3. Trajes y tocados regionales. Regional costumes and headdresses (Chichicastenango); 4. En el mercado. In the market (San Pedro Ac.); 5. Muchachas con tocados típicos. Girls with typical halo headdress (Santiago Atitlan); 6. Estudio fotografico de exteriores. Outdoor photographer's studio (Solola); 7. Principales en trajes ceremoniales. Local chiefs in full dress (Solola); 8. Pareja tipica. Native couple (Todos Santos). Holton's work is rare in the market; only a single photograph is currently available for sale. OCLC shows seven copies under three accession numbers: Univ. Mass.- Amherst, Univ. Texas at Austin, Univ. Wisconsin-Madison, Southern Methodist (2), LA Mus. of Art, and Agencia Espanola de Coop. Intern. Fine bright plates in a rubbed, somewhat edge worn portfolio with cover neatly reattached within. [43182]

34. INSAUSTI, JOSÉ MARÍA DE. AND CABRERA, LADISLAO. Notas cruzadas entre el cónsul de S.M.C. y el prefecto de Cobija. Valparaiso: Imprenta de Chile de A. Monticelli, 1863. 14 pp. 8vo. Paper wrappers.

First edition. Correspondence between José María de Insausti, consul of Spain, and Ladislao Cabrera, prefect of the Departamento Litoral de Cobija (in present-day Antofagasta Region, Chile), regarding the detention of Ruperto Sanz, a Spanish citizen, by order of Cabrera related to a mining suit brought by Daniel and José Artola. It would not be resolved until over two decades later. A very good- copy with plain wrappers with light soiling and closed tear, first blank nearly detached, title lightly soiled, scattered foxing. [41823]

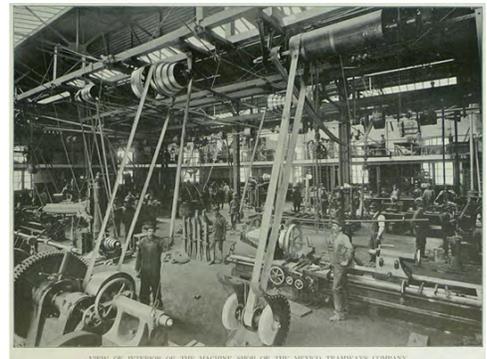

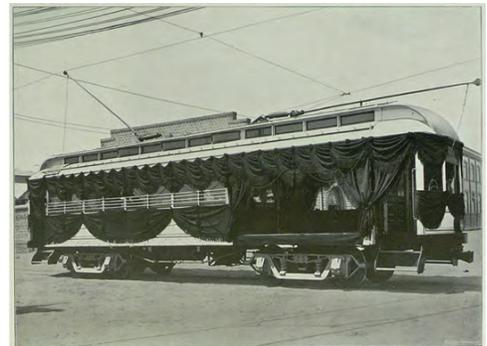

35. (MEXICO TRAMWAYS COMPANY; MEXICAN LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY LIMITED). Photographs of Views In and Around the City of Mexico and of the Companies' Installations. [n.a.]. [n.a.]. [1909]. Unpaged [50 lvs.]. Illus. with 49 b/w photo-illustrated plates. Sm. Obl. 8vo. (14 x 9 inches). Paper covered thick card boards titled in gilt, screw ties, decorated endpapers.

First edition. Each photographic illustration measures 8 3/4 by 6 1/4 inches within decorative borders on heavy glossy paper, printed rectos only, with captions in English. One statistical sheet. Images included landscapes of facilities, bridges, installations; buildings, interiors of power generation plants and manufacturing operations; exteriors and interiors of trams; and street scenes with trams in Mexico City, Guadalupe, Tacubaya, and suburbs. In line with the European,

American, and Canadian exploitation of Mexico, Canadian and European investors formed the Mexico Electric Tramways Company in 1898, electrified and expanded Mexico's tram lines, and in 1906 a "group of Canadian investors organized Mexico Tramways Company (without the word Electric) in Toronto.... acquired 75% of MET's stock, took control of its tramway system and developed Necaxa dam and power plant in Puebla state," (see Allen Morrison: The Tramways of Mexico City). The Mexican Revolution put a hold on expansion plans announced about the time of this publication, and the investors would not see any dividends for over three decades. Signed in the plates: Jean Malvaux, which was one of the premier photoengraving houses in Belgium at the beginning of the 20th century. Scarce. OCLC locates no copies but for a French language version at the Univ. Antwerp. A very good copy, boards rubbed, fore edge corners of a few early leaves chipped or with folds, rear statistical leaf chipped along edges, margins and versos foxed, heavily on a few preliminary leave, all but three photos free of foxing. [43507]

VIEW OF INTERIOR OF THE MACHINE SHOP OF THE MEXICO TRAMWAYS COMPANY

36. [MEXICO.]. MURGUIA, MANUEL. Calendario mercantil: para el año 1859 -[1873]. Arreg-lado al meridiano de México. México: Tipografía de M. Murguía, editor, Portal del Aguila de Oro, 1859-1873. Most 64 pp. Illus. with b/w plates. 16mo. Decorated and illustrated paper wrappers, various colors.

$1000

First editions. Eleven issues from 1859 until 1873 (lacking 1862, 1867, & 1870). Manuel Marguía Romero (1807-1860) founded his bookstore, La Antigua Librería de Murguia, printing house, and lithography studio in 1846 at Portal del Aguila de Oro, Mexico. He printed numerous calandarios with different subjects, some religious, this one mercantile. Early issues, while Murguia was still alive, had illustrated plates in each issue, most had advertising, some used interesting type-setting for the title pages. In addition to the calendars, some contained listings of government officials, articles, stories, poems, listings for medical-related personnel, mail delivery, train lines, telegraphs, currency exchange, and more. Quite uncommon. OCLC locates only two incomplete runs of eight and three years respectively: The British Library (OCLC: 5601953760) has 8 issues between 1859 and 1868 while the BN Spain (436526688) has one copy of the 1860 and 1861 issues, and two locations with the issue of 1859. Most copies very good or better, institutional stamp on title pages, three front wrappers have small edge tears, one with small corner chip, one with marginal tear through leaves. [43562]

TWO MANUSCRIPT MAPS OF SINALOA

37. [MEXICO. SINALOA]. RICA, ROMULO. [Manuscript Map] Plano de los terrendos de La Lima. Levantado por Romulo Rico, ingeniero. Culiacán [Mexico], 1889. 16.5 x 17 inches. Waxed paper.

First edition. Manuscript plan of the Pueblo of La Lima and Lima de Arriba, since incorporated into the city of Culiacán. Romulo Rico, the hydrological engineer who was responsible, was a distinguished 1881 graduate of the Colegio Rosales, where he later became a Professor of Mathematics. (See Revista de la Universidad Autónoma de Sinaloa, 1987; p.4). A very good copy, a few folds, minor marginal creasing. [43177]

38. [MEXICO. SINALOA]. ROCHA, IGNACIO L. [Manuscript Map] Plano de los terrendos de Santa-Anita. Levantado por Ignacio L. Rocha, ingeniero Casa Blanca [Mexico], 1888. 18 x 23.5 inches. Waxed paper.

First edition. Manuscript plan, in color, of two towns and their surrounding areas in the Mexican State of Sinaloa: Santa Anita and Vienticuartro. Ignacio L. Rocha, the topographical engineer who was responsible, was a 1883 graduate of the newly reorganized Colegio Rosales, founded in 1874. Three of his maps can be found in the Catálogo de mapas, planos, croquis e ilustraciones históricas de restitución y dotación de tierras y ampliación de ejidos del Archivo General Agrario (México, D.F.: Registro Agrario Nacional, 2000; items 173, 176, & 177). A very good copy, a few folds, minor marginal creasing. [43176]

NEW MEXICAN LAWS ADOPTED BY TAMAULIPAS

39. [MEXICO. TAMAULIPAS]. CANALES, SERVANDO. [Small Archive of Three Decrees beginning] El Gobernador constitucional del Estado de Tamaulipas, a todos sus habitantes, sabed: que el Congreso del mismo ha decretado los siguiente.... Ciudad Victoria, [Mexico]: [Estado de Tamaulipas], 1871; 1873, 1873. $400

First edition. Signed in print Servando Canales and Antonio Perales (No.73) or Manuel M. Canesco (Nos. 58, 59). Adoption of the new Federal civil and criminal laws by the state of Tamaulipas. The early 1870s were an important time in promulgating Federal laws including the first civil code (December 1870) after the reign of Maximilian. Though not all provinces accepted the code, Servando Canales, General and Governor of Tamaulipas was a champion of these changes. In Numero 73 (Junio 29 de 1871, 4 pp.) he decrees acceptance of the Federal Civil Code with 45 amendments to adapt it to Tamaulipas. In Numero 58 (Junio 3 de 1873, 1 pp.) the Code of Civil Procedure is adopted and printed without changes. And in Numero 59 (Junio 12 de 1873, 1 pp.) the new Federal Criminal Code, which abolished the death penalty, is also adopted without amendment. Provenance (for No. 73): A. Lazo-Arriaga (stamp, former foreign minister of Guatemala). Uncommon. We could locate no institutional holdings of these documents, though a few locations have decrees from Tamaulipas in the 1830s and after 1886. Four page issue torn through horizontally at three folds, with thin long chip to upper margins, owner's stamp on first page; broadsides with creases or tears, a few completely across, at horizontal folds, edge tears; but all legible, so overall still about good. $500

First editions. Part of the personal legal file of Alberto J. Parreno, noted collector of Latin Americana, and a lawyer at Curtis, Mallet-Prevost, Colt & Mosle, one of the oldest U.S. firms involved in international commerce, and much involved in the land rights and the petroleum issues before and during the Mexican presidency of revolutionary general Alvaro Obregón. Includes 22 documents: printed laws, broadsides, letters, decrees, articles, propaganda, and legal briefs ranging from the governments of Mexico, Veracruz and Michoacan, to law firms, and to fringe groups like International Association for Advancement of Religious and Political Liberty and American Association of Mexico. About a third are in Spanish, one in English and Spanish. Scarce, five of the printed Mexican documents are not in OCLC or NUC, while most other printed documents show limited holdings. List upon request. Overall very good collection, a few printed documents with chipped or detached wrappers, some browning, broadsides fragile, folded, most with law firm or location stamp, a few with notations. D. Francisco Modesto de Olaguibel... [Mexico,Toluca]: 1846. 1 sheet. 42 x 32 cm. Broadside.

First edition. To begin the Second Constitutional Epoch in Mexico, the Constitutional Congress, as its second act, announced in this broadside, dated "en Taluca 14 de Noviembre 1846," the election of Francisco Modesto Olaguíbel as Governor of the State of Mexico, with Diego Jose Perez y Fernandez as Lieutenant Governor (Villela had been named interim Governor in decree No. 1 dated November 11, 1846). In August, Olaguíbel had been appointed acting Governor by General Mariano Salas, chief of the Liberation Army when he took over the executive power of the country. Olaguíbel immediately formed a coalition of Masonic governors in the central states to prepare an uprising should Santa Anna negotiate further expansion of the United States into Mexico (see Sara Ann Frahm: The Cross and the Compass, Palibrio, 2014). We could locate no copies of this decree in OCLC nor at the BN Mexico or other sources. Light stains at the corners, vertical fold, wear to bottom edge, still very good. [43194]

SPANISH MANILA SEEKS NEW-WORLD MARKETS

46. [PHILIPPINES]. REAL TRIBUNAL DE COMERCIO DE MANILA. [Manuscript. 19th c. Expansion of Philippine Cuban Trade]. Manila: 1842. [9] manuscript pages. Folio. Disbound. $2000

First edition. With the independence of the Spanish colonies in the Americas, and the end of the Galleon trade, the Philippines could no longer rely on protected markets in Latin America nor on Mexican subsidies to sustain their trade. Commercial isolation was no longer possible. Thus the port of Manila was finally opened to unrestricted foreign trade and the Real Compania de Filipinas was dissolved and replaced by the Real Tribunal de Comercio de Manila, in January 1834 under the progressive administration of Pasqual Enrile y Alcedo, General of the Philippines. In this document, eight years after this transition began, the Board of Commerce of the Philippines reaches out to President and Delegates of the Royal Board of Development of Cuba (Junta de Fomento de Cuba), to establish trade relations as part of Manila's strategy to increase trade links with the Americas, noting that Spain and other European nations have benefitted from trade with the Philippines due to its close proximity to important Asian markets, especially China. They argue that the Philippines ports are quite advantageous to use, especially for items coming from China as well as from the Philippines. A description of some products follows including those that the Philippines were especially eager to sell into foreign markets: Abaca (in stick), coconut oil (in 12 gallon barrels), white rice, Abaca weavings (to be used as a protector against mosquitoes), cigar holders, bedcovers, Bejuco hats; and from China, numerous silk products, rhubarb, teas, both green and black, clove, nutmeg, pepper. Assurance is provided that the items are of high quality and easily obtainable. The document is dated 14 April, 1842 and signed by three members of the Real Tribunal de Comercio de Manila: José de Ortezua, Juan Antonio de Orbeta and José de Menchasatorre. An important example of the trading activities of the often underrated 19th century remnants of Spanish Empire and the centrality of these two remaining colonies to their respective markets of Asia and America. A very good copy, stitching lacking, ink burn on final leaf. [43250]

First edition. An important work during the early years of the Mexican wars for independence, by Nicolás Antonio del Puerto, which expands on and includes a printing of José Morales Gallego's "Defensa de los españoles de la patria y de la santa religión." Despite having been robbed of all his possessions by the insurgents, and nearly killed, Puerto is nevertheless full of charity for them as is noted by Lucas Alamán in his "Historia de México." A heady mixture of politics and religion. Part of Davalos' "Coleccion de documentos para la Historia de la guerra de Independencia de Mexico de 1808 a 1821." We have found only one at auction in the last fifty years or more, as part of a collection of works related to Beristain (as Censores). OCLC locates eight copies: Columbia, Yale, Berkeley, Harvard, Univ. Texas at Austin, BN Chile, BL, and Valencia. A very good copy, spine split at top edge, minor folds at corners. [43309]

52. SANTA ANNA, ANTONIO LÓPEZ DE. JOSE MARIA TORNEL Y MENDIVIL; JUAN SUÁREZ Y NAVARRO; LINO J. ALCORTA. Archive of 47 Mexican Manuscript and Printed Documents - Laws, Decrees, Circulars- from the Ministry of War and Navy: June - December 1853. [Tacubaya]: 1853. [77 pp.] on 43 leaves, some folded. Folio. Loose leaves disbound from a later made-up volume.

First edition. Beginning on June 1, 1853, shortly after Santa Anna's return to Mexico as dictator, and ending December 29, 1853, just two weeks after he extended his rule indefinitely and had himself given the title of "most serene highness," these documents cover a period of three leaders in the Ministry of War and Navy: Jose Maria Tornel y Mendivil, Juan Suárez y Navarro, and Lino J. Alcorta; all prominent santannistas. Eight are issued by Tornel, the most federalist of Santa Anna's advisors, who fell ill and died in September 1853; ten are issued by Juan Suárez y Navarro, chief administrator of the Ministry of War -the first document noting "por enfermedad de su S. E., J. Suarez Navarro" on September 10th- who coveted the position as Minister of War and Navy, but broke with Santa Anna just three weeks later when Lino J. Alcorta was appointed minister in his stead, and who issued the remaining twenty- nine documents. Thirteen of the documents are printed; 34 are in manuscript, either originals or perhaps manuscripts reproduced by an early form heliography. Similar documents were described by Dr. W. Michael Mathes in a 2004 auction catalogue as "an early form of holography [i.e. heliography] using a concentrated beam of sunlight to transfer text, a process employed in Mexico during a brief period between 1850 and 1856 for short runs and to avoid printing delays and costs. Lithography was impractical for such short-run imprints, as it was extraordinarily costly, took weeks, and presented difficulties in reproducing the writer's hand." In a few instances the date on the manuscript documents differs from that of the later publication. The documents are primarily concerned with bringing professionalism and discipline to the army (and the nation), stemming desertions and bolstering the draft (though exempting indigenous peoples), punishing theft and corruption, building fortifications and other public works, increasing weaponry, and creating militias. OCLC locates no copies of any of these individual documents, though some of the printed items are held at Berkeley, and except for the auction noted above, we could find no listings, catalogue holdings, or auction records for items reproduced in a similar fashion to those included. Detailed list in the Appendix at the end of this catalogue. Overall very good. [43554]

SATIRICAL ANTI-MILITARY ANTI-GOVERNMENT REPORT

53. [SANTA MARIA, MIGUEL]. Informe secreto al pueblo soberano, con puntas de consejos, sobre asuntos que atañen a sus regalías. [México]: [Imprenta dirigida por Tomás Uribe y Alcalde], 1833 23, [1]. 8vo. Disbound. Sutro 692i. Spain & Spanish America II, 259. Cubas: Diccionario geográfico, histórico y biográfico de los Estados unidos Mexicanos: Volume 5, p.149.

First edition. This "Secret Report to the Sovereign People," which the anonymous author claims to have found in a mailbox "entre las diez y once de la noche del miercoles ultimo," was most likely written by Miguel Santa Maria (1789-1837), a liberal republican politician, a supporter and minister under Bolivar, and influential in the government of Guadalupe Victoria. Though exiled to the United States, he returned as a private citizen in 1831 only to find himself again embroiled in controversy because of this satirical work which depicts conditions of the Mexican army, argues the benefits of not having a military which eats up precious resources and foments civil wars, and likewise criticizes the Congress for extravagant salaries (provided in detail), and the government under Manuel Gómez Pedraza (1789-1851) who lasted merely three months. Because of this work, Santamaria would again find himself exiled in 1833 by Santa Anna and Gomez Farias, who replaced Pedraza. Scarce. Not in Palau. Not in NUC. OCLC locates only four copies: Berkeley, Southern Methodist, Yale, and BN Mexico. Removed from a larger volume else a very good copy, faint inked numeral to top fore-corner. [43310]

54. SEYMOUR, RALPH FLETCHER. Across the Gulf. $1750

First English Language edition. The first and still the best English language translation of the Spanish dramatist and historian, Antonio de Solís y Ribadeneyra's (1610 -1686) "Historia de la conquista de México, población y progresos de la América septentrional, conocida por el nombre de Nueva España," first published in 1684, then translated into French and Italian. It appeared in this English translation in 1724 and would remain the primary source for information on Latin American history for the next century and the most popular until Prescott's work. "There is an abundance of data concerning the intimate lives of the Indians," Cox. Provenance: From Ella Park and George Appleton Lawrence (bookplate laid in loose). A very good copy, recent binding and new endpapers, occasional browning along top edges and spotting on outer margins, chip to margin of one leaf not affecting text (p.7 Book V) and marginal tear to V, 71; first blank, title page, and some further leaves re-enforced or remounted, marginal browning or scant foxing to plates and maps, frontis portrait of Cortes bound in at Chapter IX. 59. SOLTERA, MARIA. [PSEUD. OF MARY LESTER]. A Lady's Ride Across Spanish Honduras. Edinburgh: William Blackwood and Sons, 1884. [4 lvs], 319 pp. + adv.[24 pp.]. Illus. with frontispiece and 5 additional duotone plates. 8vo. Green cloth with gilt titles, brown end papers. Meyer: 595. Davis: Personal Writings by Women to 1900: 2036. Markman: Colonial Central America 826 (Reprint). Travel Accounts and Descriptions of Latin America: p. 135. Parreño Sale 552.

First edition. Maria Soltera is the pseudonym of Mary Lester (Soltera translates as "old maid, spinster, unmarried woman"), a British expatriate, "who had been born in the Pyrenees Mountains, and, unusually for her era, has lived in such diverse locations as the Fiji Islands and Australia. Her story of a journey by side-saddle across Honduras in 1881 is one of color and adventure which was not shared by the typical woman of her class and period. She was an early free spirit among her sex..." (Harvey K. and Jessie H. Meyer: Historical Dictionary of Honduras, second edition, p. 595). First published in "Blackwood's Magazine," the story was written partially to recover the costs she had incurred in traveling to the area to take up a job as schoolmistress in what would turn out to be another Central American colonization scam. "She described with relative good humor the poor food, lack of sleep, crazed mules, swollen rivers, and sullen innkeepers she faced..." (June Edith Hahner: Women Through Women's Eyes: Latin American Women in Nineteenth-century, p. xvii). "An authentic picture of 19th century Mexico and Honduras." Includes six ink drawings by the author. ABPC and Rare Book Hub show only two at auction since 1978. A very good copy, boards rubbed, worn at the extremities, creasing to end papers which are split at hinges, some top edges of leaves a bit ragged from opening too roughly. [43508]

61. STANDARD OIL & Others. [Archive of Propaganda by U.S. Oil Companies concerning the Mexican Expropriation of Petroleum Properties in 1938 including 15 Broadsheets]. New York: [Standard Oil & others]: 1938-1940 Various sizes. Paper wrappers.

*First editions. On March 18, 1938, Mexican President Lázaro Cárdenas expropriated the assets of nearly all of the foreign oil companies in Mexico because of low payments and strikes by oil workers who were earning half of what foreign employees were making. Although the U.S. backed off its direct challenge to the Mexican Government, U.S. companies fought the expropriation for over two years by making extravagant demands for compensation. Standard Oil and Royal Dutch Shell organized a global boycott and with others established a special office in Rockefeller Center in NYC to generate anti-Mexican propaganda including the vitriolic biweekly, "Looking at Mexico" (Michael J. Gonzales: The Mexican Revolution, 1910-1940; p. 251). "Using the same tactic of tapping non-Standard Oil news sources, the company published, in both Spanish and English, a monthly broadsheet with the claim, 'The material herein has been taken from published sources and is reproduced without comment' ... 'Looking at Mexico' . . . or 'De Cómo Ven a Méjico' . . . did, in fact, present views from numerous locations and publications, but limited its content to stories that reflected unfavorably on Mexico. Articles reprinted from newspapers like the Wall Street Journal, the New York Herald Tribune, the Danville (Va.) Bee, the* Topeka Capital, Excelsior, El Universal, and La Prensa may have conveyed a sense of legitimacy and impartiality to the Standard Oil propaganda campaign, especially since many of the charges in the stories could not be refuted," (Robert Huesca: "The Mexican Oil Expropriation and the Ensuing Propaganda War," Institute of Latin American Studies University of Texas at Austin, Paper No. 88-04, pp. 3-4). "Looking at Mexico" hit upon every capitalist fear, projecting it to Mexico, often in its cartoons: the revolution was communist inspired, unions put people out of work, it supported dictators, it supplied "American" oil to Nazi Germany, the New Deal squashed U.S. Property rights, all of Latin America would follow in Mexico's footsteps, a weak U.S. would lead to Japanese expansion in Asia. Contents:

TAX ON TOBACCO

First edition. A series of letters, reports, and notations on sealed paper signed mainly by Bernardo Sancho Larrea, with some attestations by others, about the conditions, methods and rules of establishing an “estanco de tabaco” or rules of the tobacco business and transactions in Buenos Aires. The first letter attempts to contextualize the business within the rules of the greater region of the newly formed “Virreinato del Río de la Plata” in 1777, under the rule of Charles III. It sought to regulate the sales of goods, tobacco in this case, while fixing the prices at which this is are to be sold and/or traded. Pedro Nuñez, an “Escribano Capitular” or public notary also writes an addendum to this letter as corroboration of the date and content. Further documents elaborate on these issues though one asks for a more extensive and formal document" no doubt because much of the tax money was in dispute. Bernardo Sancho Larrea (1727-1799) was born in Santurde, Spain. As the second oldest son he chose a military career, eventually reaching the rank of captain "Capitán por S. M. del Regimiento fijo de Milicias de la Ciudad de Buenos Ayres," which he augmented with various public offices and economic activities. In Buenos Aires he had a very direct relationship with the Viceroy Cevallos (in fact tried to have Cevallos term in office extended) and was Síndico Procurador General responsible of the collection of taxes on Tobacco. By February the new Collector of Excise in Buenos Aires, Martin Antonio Perales, would report Larrea as taking 10% of the tax himself. Sancho Larrea would be banished for a year to the Malvinas Islands, before returning to Spain. A very good copy with minor edgewear, small tear along fold of wrapper, 2 small holes in lower portion of front wrapper not affecting any text; large chip to corner of rear wrapper, small tear and folding along stitching, scattered foxing mostly to last few leaves. Paris: Chez Charles-Antoine Jombert, 1752. [xxii], 554; [ii], 316, [vi], [viii], [3]-309, [iii] pp. p. 238 misnumbered 338. Illus. with two engraved frontispieces, 54 engraved maps, plans, and scenes (most folding) on 53 sheets; plus engraved title vignettes and head and tail pieces. Engravings by Frans de Bakker, François Morellon La Cave, Jacob Folkema, Duflos, John Ingram, and Jan Punt; after Charles Nicholas Cochin, Gabriel François Louis Debrie, Bernard Picart, and Jan Punt. 4to. Black calf, rebacked with black morocco, over marbled boards, five raised bands, two compartment lettered in gilt. Palau 125473. Sabin 36812. JCB III: 974. Medina BHA: 3464. LCP. Afro-Americana: 5409. Hill 1740.

$2500

First edition in French. Title in red and black; engraved title vignettes. Translations by E. de Mauvillon of Ulloa's "Relacion historica del viage a la America Meridional," and of the companion work by Jorge Juan y Santacilia, entitled, "Observations astronomicas y physicas hechas de orden de S. Mag. en los reynos del Perù" (both published at Madrid in 1748); and of Garcilaso de la Vega's "Comentarios reales de los Incas." This copy with the Paris imprint, but Sabin argues it is just a change to the title page of the Arkste's & Merkus edition (Amsterdam et Leipzig) the same year. In 1735 the French Academy of Science requested permission to send an expedition to the equatorial regions of Spanish controlled South America in order for Charles de la Condamine and other French scientists to measure several degrees of meridian at the equator. By comparing their results with those obtained by a similar mission to Lapland, the Academie hoped to settle the controversy between the Newtonians and the Cartesians over whether the earth was flattened or elongated at the poles. Ulloa and Juan y Santacilia, Spain's best scientific officers, were sent along. Despite great difficulties, the expedition's geodetic measurements proved the validity of Newton's hypothesis. Antonio de Ulloa y de la Torre-Girault (1716 -1795) was later the first Spanish governor of Louisiana though he was deposed in 1768 after two years, during a creole revolt and also served as governor of Huancavelica in Peru. Very good copies, boards rubbed, spines worn with a small chip to the rebacking, scattered foxing, and a few of the later scientific plates browned, otherwise impressions quite sharp. [40249]

IMPEACHMENT OF THE SUPREME COURT

$300

First edition (?) An important document concerning the independence of the judiciary in Chile and a reply to the accusations made by the Cámara de diputados against the Supreme Court, whose President was Manuel Montt. Montt, who had served as President of Chile, was an authoritarian leader who represented the conservative oligarchy. The impeachment against the Supreme Court alleged that the Conservatives and the Church had promoted the civil war in 1859 during Montt's administration. While this document opposing the impeachment is unsigned, it is most likely the work of Antonio Varas who had been Montt's Minister of the Interior and whose commentary, "Discourses del señor Varas en las sessions del 27 y 28 de Octubre de la Cámara de diputados," on pages 67-90, follows the main document. This is an apparently unrecorded issue. OCLC lists three copies of a different issue: Univ. Texas, Univ. Conn., and BN Chile, both paginated 79, 20; Staatsbibliothek Berlin has only "La acusacion," 79 pp. A very good unopened (uncut) and untrimmed wide-margined copy, untrimmed edges ragged, chips and tears to original wrappers, bookseller's sticker on half-title. [42257]

THREE MEXICAN BOUDOIR CARDS

66. VELARDE, B., PHOTOGRAPHER. [Three Photographs of Mexico: Alameda de Guadalupe [and] Frente de la Parroquia, Chihuahua [and] Town Square, Veracruz]. Chihuahua, Mexico, B. Velarde ca.1880-1900. 4 1/2 x 7 1/2 inch images on 5 x 8 inch cards. 8 x 5 inches. Card mount.

$150

Boudoir cards. Silver gelatin prints. Medallion reading 'B. Velarde, Fotógrafo, Chihuahua, Mexico' printed on versos. Verlarde was an established photographer, his work being printed in official works such as "Mexico y sus capitales" (1900) and travel guides like "De México á Chicago y Nueva York"

1892. A photographer by the same name also started a photography business in Denver in 1872 but there is no further information on him. Some fading and foxing, still very good. [43259]

TWO ON VENEZUELA ON ITS 100TH ANNIVERSARY

First edition. Inscribed by Gral [José Eleazar] López Contreras to Coronel Frank E. Harris, who was an Inspector general in the U.S. Army stationed in Panama. José Eleazar López Contreras (1883-1973) was an army general, one of Juan Vicente Gómez's supporters, who would go on to become Minister of War in 1931 and would succeed Gomez upon his death, to become President of Venezuela from 1935 until 1941 (as a side note, it was Contreras who accepted the ships Koenigstein and Caribia which had fled Germany with Jewish refugees during the war).

OCLC locates ten institutional holdings at North American Libraries. NYPL, LOC, Univ. Colorado, Univ. Cal. at Berkeley, LA, L.Amer, LSU, UNC, and UVA. A very good or better copy with lightly soiled wrappers, gift inscription on title page, fore edges of the last few leaves with small nicks. [43503]

Gray paper wrappers, stamped in gilt and decorated in raised colors, tied in red ribbons, deckled fore edge.

First edition, Inscribed by Gral [José Eleazar] López Contreras to Coronel Frank E. Harris. A companion volume to the work above, "Venezuela en la independencia."

1924 was the 100th anniversary of Venezuelan independence and Juan Vicente Gómez (1857-1935), who was the leader of Venezuela between 1908 and 1935, some-times in office and sometimes not, but always in control, wanted to show off the gains in his country, fittingly ending with its petroleum infrastructure.

But Gomez was also responsible for its loss of independence, by aiding the undo influence that the United States would gain over Venezuela. According to Rómulo Betancourt, former president of Venezuela "Gomez was something more than a local despot, he was the instrument of foreign control of the Venezuelan economy, the ally and servant of powerful outside interests" (Venezuela: Oil and Politics, Houghton Mifflin, 1979, p. 43). OCLC locates only six institutional holdings: NYPL, LOC, Univ. Colorado, and Univ. Cal. at Berkeley, LA, & N. Reg. A very good or better copy, small tear on rear wrapper, minor edge wear, gift inscription on title page, last three leaves with marginal chip at top corner. [43502]

69. VICUÑA MACKENNA, B. [BENJAMÍN]. La defensa de Puebla por el general Jesús González Ortega. Artículos bibliográficos. Santiago: Imprenta Chilena de Herrera i Ca., 1864. 69 pp. 8vo. Plain yellow paper wrappers. Palau 362506. Benelli, Bibliografía general de Vicuña Mackenna 32. Moreno, Biblioteca Boliviana (Supl. 2): 6774.

First edition. Vicuña Mackenna's account of the siege of Puebla by the French army in 1863 and its defense for three months by González Ortega. The Yale copy has a portrait of Jesús González Ortega but it is not called for in any bibliography or noted in any other copies. Lacking the rear wrapper and without the portrait found in some copies, faint foxing on title else contents very good. [41820]

PETROGLYPHS EXPLAINED

First edition. Written in aid of the funds of the Potaro mission. Winter provides ingenious descriptions and explanations of the petroglyphs; he suggest some refer to the arrival of Gonzola Pizarro in a ship, another recording a catastrophic storm, sun worshippers, astronomical events, or symbols from a figure of Thaloc, the Mexican rain-god, Quite scarce. OCLC locates only three copies: one in the U.S. at Berkeley and the remaining two in Britain at Oxford and Univ. of London. We cannot locate a London edition mentioned in an 1883 review. A very good copy, wrappers edgeworn and lightly soiled, plates sharp. [43151]

71. ZÚÑIGA Y ONTIVEROS, MARIANO JOSEF DE. Calendario manual para el año del señor de 1821. Vigésimo septimo que arregla al meridiano de México. [México]: En Méjico oficina del Autor, 1821. 16 lvs. [32 pp.]. 48mo.(9.6 cm). Later yellow paper wrappers. Medina: Mexico VIII: 12103. Garritz: Impresos Novohispano II: 4250.

First edition. A calendar giving the saints' feast days for the year 1821, along with major holy days, the phases of the moon, eclipses, and brief meteorological and astronomical notes at the beginning of each month. Medina dates it as 1821, Garritz as 1820. OCLC shows only four locations: Univ. Penn, Welcome Lib., BN Mexico, Inst. Tecn. Mexico. A very good copy with wrappers trimmed just shy of leaves, 3 leaves with small soiled spot, first few leaves with very faint dampstain along fore edge. [43155]
